

The 2009 Janet Emig Award for Exemplary Scholarship in English Education has been awarded to the following UCSB South Coast Writing Project team—Sheridan Blau, Alison Bright, Tim Dewar, Jason Levine, Roseanne Macias, and Paul Rogers. Here is a quotation from the announcement:

"Congratulations! The Janet Emig Award Committee has selected your article as the winner of the 2009 Janet Emig Award. The Emig Award is given annually to the article published in English Education that most contributes to our thinking about English teacher education and most informs our research. On behalf of the Conference on English Education, I applaud your outstanding article, "Beyond Strategies: Teacher Practice, Writing Process, and the Influence of Inquiry," published in English Education in April of 2008. You have honored the profession, and now we honor you."

The award is given by the Conference on English Education of the National Council of Teachers of English in honor of Janet Emig, Professor Emeritus of English Education at Rutgers University, for her contribution to the field of English Education. The winners will receive their award the 2009 NCTE Fall Convention in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, held from Nov. 19-22.
