The Collaborative Design Institute

is a rigorous, year-long institute. The purpose of the institute is to bring together outstanding visual and performing arts and career arts educators in cadres of professional learning communities.

Each cadre designs and field-tests a standards-based visual arts, performing arts or A, M, & E unit in their classrooms and utilizes lesson study processes to examine and improve student learning.

The Conceptual Framework for the Institute includes:

- Common Core Content Literacy for Technical Subjects
- California Visual and Performing Arts Framework and Content Standards
- Revised California Career Technical Education Model Curriculum Standards
- Wiggins and McTighe’s Understanding by Design
- New ELD standards
- New National Core Arts Standards
